MR. MICHAEL ARBUTINA
High School Principal

In choosing an ideal, we, the youth at Western, would do well to study our principal at work. The vitality and assurance with which he attacks each task will impress any student and inspire him to higher accomplishments. Mr. Arbutina sets a criterion of excellence which, if copied, will surely benefit the imitator.

Guided by progressive advisors

Our school board, under the leadership of Mr. Henderson, gives wholehearted support to extracurricular activities without sacrificing the pursuit of academic excellence. Although their task is thankless for the most part, these gentlemen continue to do an excellent job of administration for our school system.

MR. MEREDITH, in his usual relaxed, efficient manner, watches over the activities of the Board.

competent staff

In order to make scholastic progress, students require services in the academic fields. The people who provide these necessities at Western are so friendly, efficient and dependable that they have become a coadjutant part of our school life. Although we often fail to recognize it, they care for us to the point where we are spoiled

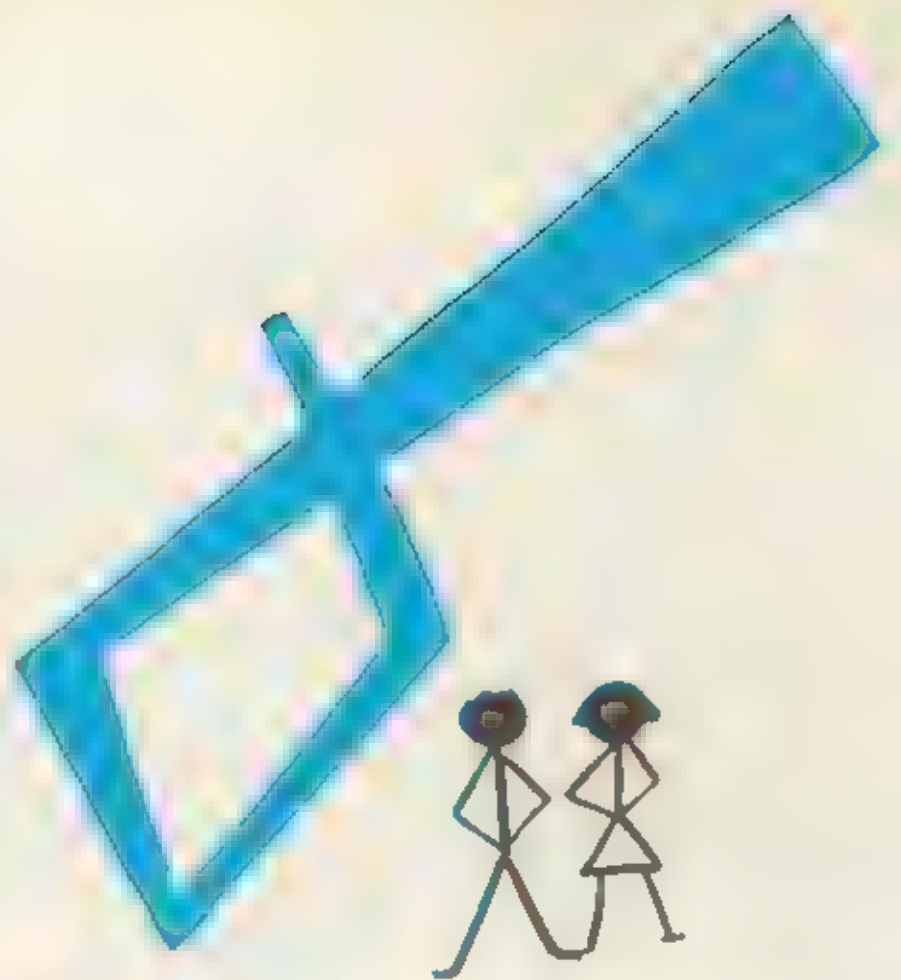

OUR BUS DRIVERS are a well-trained group of people who are going safely and promptly

THIS FOUNTAIN built by the Art Club is an excellent example of the diversified activities that Western sponsors.

COMMERCIAL STUDENTS are provided with all the equipment necessary for comprehensive instruction.

Working together

At Western, students are constantly exposed to the personal attention of their teachers by being placed in working situations with them. The idea of "learning by doing" is made as interesting and meaningful as possible by providing the students with the best available equipment. The enthusiasm which this apparatus arouses makes education a fascinating process for both educators and pupils.

INFORMAL student teacher talks are not uncommon in the halls at Western.

TESTING — To be sure the results are accurate, the students test the results of their work.

Learning together

IN THIS biology lab, as in the rest of our school, "the real thing is provided whenever possible to supply extensive education."

BY WORKING through the problems which are presented, the students learn to solve personal problems which they may encounter in their daily lives.

ADEQUATE PRACTICE is given the students in the laboratory to prove that "practice makes perfect."

The students of today are constantly becoming more aware of the responsibilities which we will face as the future unfolds. This revelation serves as an inspiration, and we students, as the leaders of tomorrow, are responding to this challenge by developing our skills and intellects in many ways. By thus providing ourselves with the necessary tools, we prepare ourselves to deal effectively with the unknown elements of the future

THE BEAUTY of the countryside near Medellin, Colombia, is surpassed only by its friendly people and its ideal climate

Strange people, a foreign language, unusual climate, and unfamiliar customs are a few of the difficulties that confront an exchange student when adapting to a new environment. Western's Colombian exchange student, Marta Calle, mastered the English language, grew accustomed to a cold climate, adopted American ways, and won the friendship and admiration of all her acquaintances. A junior and member of the Spanish and Art Clubs, she spent most of her spare time writing home or engaging in the many activities of teenage America. In February, Marta returned to Medellin to complete her studies. It is certain that Colombia's temporary loss has been Western's permanent gain.

Participation in the International Fellowship exchange program has been a rich and rewarding experience. We have learned to love people of different cultures, to respect their way of life, and to appreciate the importance of good will toward all mankind.

ALFREDO YUNES from Guayaquil, Ecuador, also spent six weeks with us. He lived at the home of Bette Dawson.

EDUCATION

FACULTY DEPARTMENT HEADS gathered in the conference room with Miss Joyce Springer, School Nurse, to discuss the school's work after Mr. Gallo entered the service.

Faculty . . . Friends of Youth

Many leaders of America have said that the chief influence in their lives was a teacher who had been an inspiration. Teachers, next to our parents, have the greatest opportunity to shape our lives. Their high idealism, devotion to duty, and courtesy for all set an example for us. The senior class wishes to express its appreciation to the entire faculty of Western Beaver for all of the work they have done for us during the past two years. Their influence has been great. We are determined it will lead us to success.

MR. ELMER has a large file cabinet in which he keeps a vast amount of information and consulted it frequently.

HANDICRAFTS are enjoyed every day in the Special Education class. The students work with ease and pleasure.

Special Education

The friendly atmosphere of our guidance department is an open invitation to all students. Their misgivings and problems are discussed freely. An extensive testing program is designed to give a continual flow of information about each student.

Our well-equipped health suite provides excellent medical care to students and faculty. When personal problems arise, the understanding nurse is ever ready to give aid. Her attractiveness helps to alleviate any hurt.

Another phase of school life is the special education class. Here individual attention is stressed. Students are encouraged to express themselves freely.

FIRST AID with a smile helps us forget all aches and pains.

Our modern language department endeavors to instill in us basic skills of reading, writing, listening, and speaking. The medium of reading develops a wise use of leisure time; our writing builds an extensive vocabulary for expressing ideas with brevity and perspicuity; listening encourages accurate interpretation of facts and opinions; while speaking is the outgrowth of understanding. We converse courteously and intelligently and through class participation develop a sensitivity to understanding

Our curriculum offers three basic foreign language courses—French, Latin, and Spanish. The study of any of these may begin in ninth grade and continue through a four year sequence. Since the installation of the language lab in April, we can emphasize oral drill to gain greater fluency in conversation and to better understand the spoken word. Grammar study still serves to explain the structure of language while we gain an understanding of other peoples through cultural essays.

SPANISH I STUDENTS drill pronunciation and idiomatic speech via our new language lab

LANGUAGE ARTS students enjoy and profit greatly by using the S.R.A. laboratory for reading development

Excellent modern texts are supplied by the school and supplemented by our efficient teaching staff. Daily drill is the key to complete understanding of language thus it is an integral part of each class. In the senior high the emphasis is placed on literature, composition, and public speaking. The students learn not only to interpret and evaluate selections from American and English literature, but also to express their own hopes and aspirations. In addition seniors are introduced to many vocabulary words which are essential for post-graduate work. Commercial students are instructed primarily for the business world while the college-bound prepare for advanced study.

The Social Studies Department at Western has developed a very active curriculum. Ever mindful of the need for a well-informed populace, our teachers constantly improve and expand their course of study. Each class is unique in its exact objective, yet all are needed for the students to develop an understanding of human behavior.

American History classes give us not only a study of historical events but also understanding of the effect they have on man today. World Cultures provides an appreciation of democracy as well as a realization of the interdependence of the nations of the world. P.O.D. and Civics present the rights and responsibilities of citizenship, the structure and the function of our government, and an awareness of life's opportunities. Economics teaches the student of American economy, sometimes called "the eighth wonder of the world." Together they present a total picture of man's social problems and successes.

ART EDUCATION

Every student at Western has the opportunity to receive the benefits of both the vocal and instrumental music department. A well-rounded program enables the students to obtain knowledge of musical history and of composition. Throughout the year the department has put forth great effort to raise money for chorus and band uniforms. Students, with the help of their parents and the general public, have been very successful in raising the necessary funds.

Our Art Department provides a meaningful and sensitive course of study. Students strive to determine and to develop their creative powers, while at the same time to gain a deep appreciation for professional art. This is encouraged by instruction in drawing, sculpturing, painting, and designing. The art room is filled with an atmosphere of business, yet there is a lingering feeling of serenity where each student can work without pressure. With modern materials of every nature plus individual attention, the talents and admiration for creativity are properly guided toward self-expression.

Homemaking curriculum provides for development of personality as well as of household talents. Our future housewives are taught with the aid of the most modern equipment. Since home economics is a skill, students must be instructed in the art and technique of successful homemaking.

The industrial arts department introduces all boys to the various facets of vocational training. Their special interests are cultivated and encouraged for possible future industrial employment.

The school library strives to meet the needs of pupils and teachers. It is both a service and a teaching agency—a material and reading center that enables students to explore the knowledge of all time.

Driver training is an asset to our community for all tenth grade students are given extensive instruction in auto-safety. After completing classroom instruction, students may take in-the-car training when they are sixteen. Safety is the keyword throughout the course.

Science is being emphasized more and more each year. An increasing complex program is being offered in the curriculum. Junior high science emphasizes analysis and interpretation of basic scientific principles. The biology students learn about the functions and parts of plants and how to dissect various animals. In chemistry, students are introduced to valence, chemical formulas, and chemical reactions. Physics acquaints the students with such terms as motion, energy, and force. The combination laboratory and classroom is helpful as lectures and demonstrations are combined. Western's science department is top-notch. We certainly are proud of it.

Mathematics is stressed as one of the most important subjects at Western Beaver. Math is the basis for all sciences and is especially needed in the early years of high school. It is the foremost wish of our teachers to establish desirable work habits and study skills in their students. The teachers have attempted to keep up with all the latest methods and techniques and have been very cooperative in assisting those who have need of help.

This year the Algebra I students used the planned program of math known as TEMAC. The senior academics studied math analysis as well as trigonometry. There are plans to expand the curriculum even further in the future.

The physical education program enables students to gain in physical as well as mental fitness. Modern equipment and a friendly student-teacher relation make gym classes a welcome hour. The program includes instruction in conditioning exercises, in traditional sports, and in body fundamentals. While physical education emphasizes versatility, it also develops poise and skill. Our teachers seek to build body stamina, teach basic fundamentals of health, and give an opportunity to develop social graces.

In the health classes the importance of personal hygiene is stressed. Informal discussion is a valuable aspect of each class. Students discuss freely their problems and personal experiences with often enlightening results.

Business Education...

Increased competition in the business world has necessitated that commercial students be well-trained. Ability and initiative are not enough today to obtain top jobs. Recognizing this need for quality training, Western Beaver offers a variety of subjects in business education. Up-to-date machines and excellent instruction combine to better prepare our secretaries to face the demanding world.

This year, in addition to their usual services to the school, the commercial students typed the data on all our report cards and served as secretaries to the faculty.

Mrs. Braheny replaced Mrs. Martin at the beginning of the second report period in November. We have appreciated her rollicking good humor. Of course, everyone enjoys Mr. Shingler's friendly ways.

Seniors... Class of '64

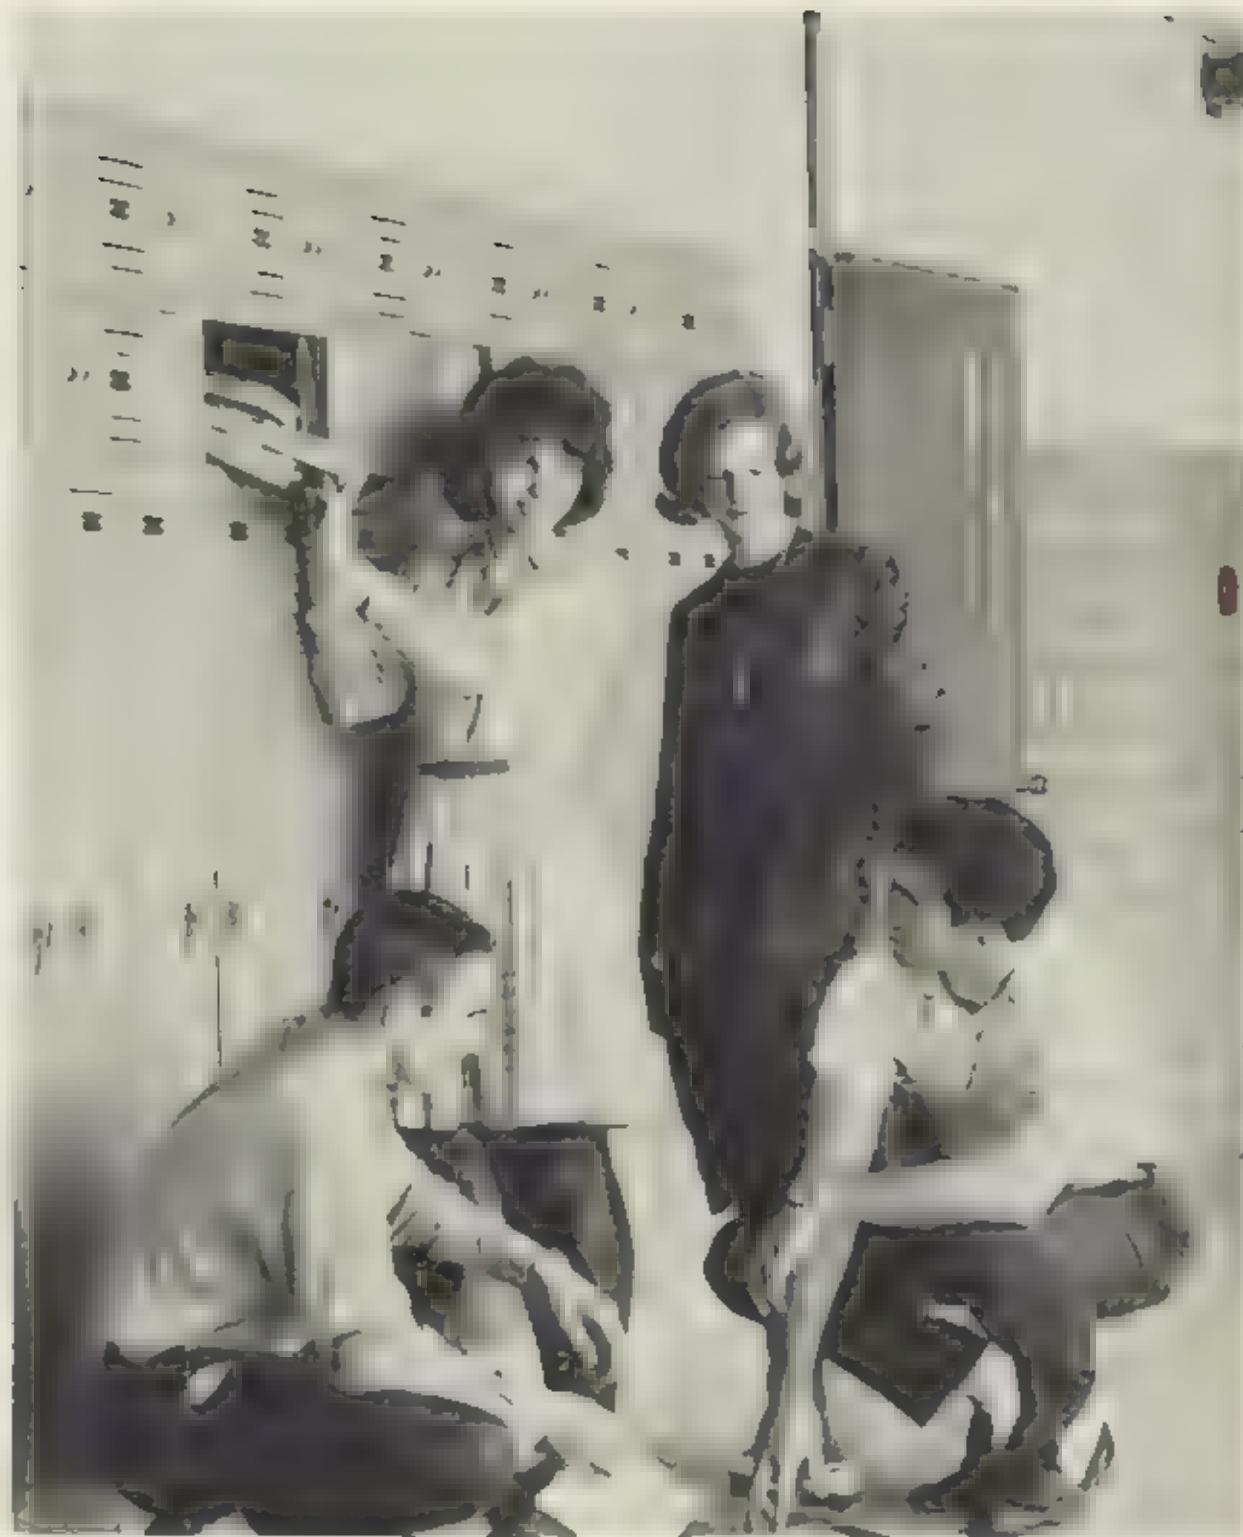

And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts." This is certainly true of every senior as he sits down to evaluate the preceding twelve years. His emotions are confused; he's happy, he's sad, he's somber, he's glad. His memory is filling with such events as his first day of school, his first basketball game, his first date, his first formal. However the events most prevalent are those of his senior year.

The class of '64 recognized the need for work as competition between classmates grew keener. Various tests, including the State Scholarship Exam and the Test Battery served as a preparation for future schooling or vocation. Suddenly came the realization that this was "serious business." Preparing for the future became a reality, especially in the college preparatory classes. Too soon it was time for the year to end, but the year had not passed without many memorable events—choir concert, school play, gym exhibition, art festival, prom, senior picnic, and senior banquet. The climax came on June 2nd with commencement and graduation. Now all is reflection and memory—thoughts of youth

These underclassmen will soon take the place of our seniors. They are working hard to reach this the first real goal in life. As their junior year draws to a close, they realize their responsibilities are increasing in number and in importance. Their senior year will tell whether their years as underclassmen have been wisely spent.

The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and the College Boards were taken this year by students desiring early admission to college and also for practice since they will take them again as seniors. In October those who took the National Merit Scholarship Test will find out if they qualify for a scholarship to college.

The junior year is always one of many activities. The class of 1965 planned and worked in such a manner that their major projects were extremely successful. The magazine sale, which was held in the fall, was more than usually profitable. They also sponsored a number of dances after basketball games. Spring found them eagerly making plans for the annual Junior-Senior Prom under the guidance of their new sponsor, Mr. Dorminey. They have proved their ability to work together successfully. Now they eagerly await the opportunity to prove themselves capable seniors.

CLASS OFFICERS: Cassie Lapsa, Dan C. Lapsa, Mrs. McLean, Miss Young, and two girls sitting on a bench. Kola Vorkapich, treasurer.

Sophomores . . . Class of '66

Coming back to our second year at the new high school, we realized our ensuing financial responsibilities for the next two big years and organized several money raising campaigns. The first was a Christmas candy sale which like the later Easter candy sale proved to be outstandingly successful. Another memorable fund raising endeavor was the Friday the Thirteenth Dance which was climaxed by our giving away a stuffed black cat as the door prize.

We have begun to show our importance in extra-curricular activities by holding prominent importance in all sports, student council, the school play, band and many other school functions. Next year promises to be even brighter as we have gained invaluable experience in our own specialties.

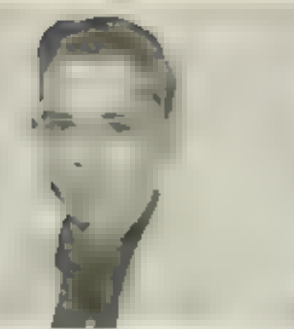

We will all remember this year happily as the year of Beatlemania, squirt guns and motor scooters but sadly as the year of President Kennedy's assassination and of Douglas MacArthur's last battle. It has been a year of growing and learning, a year of memories and experiences. Our sincere thanks go to the witty counseling and ideas of Mrs. McLean and Miss Young. Without them our projects could never have been completely realized.

Sr. Hi Student Council

Our Student Council, existing for a second year, continued to work and to strive for an ever improved school government. Every attempt was made to present the requests of the student body to the administration, while at the same time to interpret for the student body the decisions of the administration.

This year the constitution was revised and ratified, and a suggestion box was placed in the cafeteria. Dances and other money-making events enabled the Council to honor our foreign exchange students by presenting them letter-sweaters.

Jr. Hi Student Council

The Junior High Student Council is no less important in its purpose. Members become acquainted with the school government and learn to properly represent that government. With such an adequate background they are prepared to face the responsibilities of the Senior High Student Council.

Mr. Young became the new sponsor when Mr. Fluke left in January. Since that time he has been of great assistance in helping the Council to act as the students' voice in the school.

National Honor Society

Scholarship, Character, Leadership, Service.

Membership in this organization is coveted by all conscientious students for it, more than any other, denotes a high degree of accomplishment. Members are selected by a faculty council at the end of the first semester of their junior year. Our academic standards are very high, but this serves to honor even more the students who qualify. Four virtuous qualities are considered—scholarship, character, leadership, and service. A student must remain acceptable in each of these categories to retain his membership in the National Honor Society.

Probably the event most representative of the Honor Society is the impressive candlelight induction ceremony. It is a time of triumph for the eligible students and a time of challenge for those not yet eligible. To the lower classman it presents a promise of reward and recognition.

THREE JUNIORS are inducted into the N. H. S. on April 3rd. They are Leanne Hetter, Jacquelyn Luster, and Romeo DeMarco.

Thespian Society

The past two years our Dramatics Club has provided everyone not only with entertainment, but also with training in self-expression which is so important for success.

Through participation in plays, students acquire the ten points necessary for membership in the National Thespian Society. Thespians work to bring out the best in each student, to give him a greater appreciation of drama, and through it all to develop the qualities of co-operation, responsibility and loyalty.

Only the participants realize the amount of hard work that goes into each production, but their reward is the knowledge that the show succeeded because of their collective efforts. Mrs. Hickey instills in her members a greater interest in the theatre and what it represents.

Math Club

The Math Club provides an opportunity for members to share new experiences in the field of mathematics. To be eligible for membership students must take Algebra II, geometry, or trigonometry, maintaining a "C" average or better. With the aid of Mrs. McLean they have made and sold programs at basketball games, decorated bulletin boards, and presented an award to the outstanding senior in advanced math.

The Science Club promotes a greater interest in research and experiment. Members include dedicated students of chemistry, physics, and biology who probe scientific phenomena. They perform experiments in the various fields and particularly use the telescope. Other activities included speakers on astronomy and the preparation of plaques of common leaves.

The Highlighter

Guiding the Highlighter staff, Miss Richards supervised coverage of important school news. Her help was especially needed in the first few months of school until the staff gained experience.

The students were informed, amused and often delighted by the news articles, feature stories, editorials, gossip, and sports coverage that were presented in the word-packed periodical. Chip's cartoons alone were worth the dime we paid for the paper. Five issues rolled off the presses this year. Miss Richards and her staff can certainly be proud of their work.

The Aurora

Every yearbook staff is faced with the task of featuring important activities and yet covering adequately those of lesser importance. Drawing layouts, cropping pictures, writing copy, balancing books, antagonizing co-workers, and making mistakes all prove to the staff that yearbook making is a long and difficult task. The work is demanding and often disgusting. Nevertheless, the knowledge gained and pleasure experienced far exceed the troubles.

We, the staff, wish to thank Mrs. Clear for imparting to us a small fraction of her extensive experience in yearbook making. Also many thanks go to Mr. Parker for his wealth of pictures and to Mr. Minich for his patient assistance.

Seated: Joy Balser, Arlene Vuletic, Grace Miller. Standing: Marsha Hazy, Judy Patterson

Hi-Y

The Hi Y is an active organization in our school. The purpose of the Hi Y is to build character and to make its members aware of Christian ways. It is a service organization that aids the poor and needy of the community whenever and however they can. Throughout the year, fund-raising projects were successful. They sold candy at home basketball games and thus were enabled to make donations to the yearbook and to the junior class. Other activities included gym nights, intramural basketball games, and interscholastic tournament games. The tournament was held during Christmas vacation at Beaver H. S. They enjoyed themselves thoroughly and displayed fine sportsmanship. Mr. Shingler has done a fine job in helping his boys to learn a better way of life.

Art Club

The Art Club is a select group of the more artistically talented students in the school. Members are encouraged to work in any media and are given skilled instructions. Students are offered opportunities to display their works. Frequent field trips are taken for the benefit of those wishing to broaden their knowledge of art. Their meetings offer them excellent opportunities to improve their talents as well as develop cultural appreciation.

Mr. Kozar has supervised many successful projects. Besides sponsoring many dances and bake sales, they have provided invaluable assistance to school activities. They have painted posters, made signs, designed programs, and recently, decorated school trash cans. The members surely have gained valuable experience.

Senior Tri-Hi-Y

The Senior High Tri Hi Y of Western Beaver has been quite active this year. They have sponsored bake sales throughout the year, sold popcorn at basketball games, prepared food baskets for the needy, and sponsored a clothing drive for needy children.

This club is a service organization whose purpose is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character.

Miss Young has encouraged the girls in projects and in discussions. Their meetings have dealt with topics both profound and interesting.

Mrs. HYTE, sponsor; Diana HEADLEY, vice president; Ernestine TUTTLE, secretary; Judy TAYLOR, president; Floise SHEELE

Aware of its responsibilities as a service organization, the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y has given aid to various worthwhile activities. Serving as sponsor, Mrs. HYTE has guided the members this year.

Our clubs are affiliates of the national Tri-Hi-Y sponsored by the Y M.C.A. Their platform is self improvement, Christian fellowship, and united service. While their slogan is pure words, pure thoughts, and pure actions. Their objective is to seek, to find, and to share. And their colors are red, white, and blue, exemplifying sacrifice, purity, and loyalty.

Cercle Francais

Quand les cercles de notre lycée ont été organisés seulement quatre élèves ont, choisi le Cercle Français. Ce n'était pas un grand nombre, mais nous faisons ce que nous pouvions néanmoins. Un avantage de ceci était que tous les membres pouvaient être officiers. Nous avons écouté aux disques, examiné des livres français, et créé beaucoup de choses pour l'emploi de notre professeur dans les classes françaises.

El Círculo Español

Este club da la oportunidad de obtener un mejor entendimiento de los españoles y de aprender más acerca de las costumbres, las tradiciones, y la lengua española. A las asambleas semanales los socios aprendieron de los vecinos latinoamericanos por películas y discursos. Nuestros dos amigos, Marta Calle de Colombia y Alfredo Yunes del Ecuador, ayudaron hacer el club más interesante. Ellos fueron los huéspedes de honor a un banquete. Después fueron a ver la película El Cid. Cada miembro ha ganado mucho y damos las gracias a la señora Clear.

The Photography Clubs, organized last year, are designed to stimulate interest in photography. Their members can be seen at school activities improving their technique of "shooting" from every angle. Later in the darkroom members may develop and enlarge their own pictures. From the excellent new equipment added this year, these students have gained much knowledge which may well lead to a life-long hobby or career.

Boys' Leaders

The boys in the Leaders Club rush to the gym floor from the dressing room to begin to let the ropes down, lay the mats out, and get the horse or parallel bars in position for class. The gym classes are working on the apparatus so it is necessary for them to demonstrate to the others what is to be done. Anyone with ability and desire is eligible for membership. Every member realizes that sportsmanship and fair play should be his constant aim. With all of the boys keeping this in mind their training in leadership will be of the highest degree. Theirs will be a service to Mr. Allison, their sponsor, to others, and to themselves.

The Girls' Leaders is composed of girls from both junior and senior high. Its purpose is to further the development of the ability of each member and to better her skills in competitive sports. Members are selected by classmates from their gym classes. Their duties are to lead exercises and to assist the instructor in demonstrating skills.

This year the girls took part in many activities including volleyball, basketball, badminton, tennis, softball and gymnastics. They worked with the Boys' Leaders in the "behind the scenes" action of the gym exhibition. A bowling party and picnic climaxed the year's social events.

Lettermen's Club

The Lettermen's Club is composed of those students who lettered in '62-'63 in any varsity sport or varsity cheerleading. Those who lettered in '64 gained membership upon receiving the letter but are not pictured. With the aid of Mr. Temple, money was acquired to purchase sweaters for those who lettered for two consecutive years. The awards were presented at the All Sports Banquet on Tuesday, May 19, 1964.

Commercial Club

The purpose of the Commercial Club is to work along with the business course to help the girls develop the good characteristics of an efficient secretary. To gain experience in working for someone, each girl was assigned to do the personal typing of two teachers in the high school. This has proved a worthwhile experience. Their programs have included films, demonstrations of telephone usage and application for employment. Money raising projects provided the means for a trip to Pittsburgh during which the girls toured several business schools.

Ushers Club

One of the newly formed and active organizations of our school is the Ushers Club. Mr. Cupani and the members have relinquished their time and service to "laying out the welcome mat" for visitors at various activities held in the high school. This reception committee of boys and girls from junior and senior high has added a warm touch to the school's atmosphere.

Western Beaver's Junior Red Cross is an affiliate of the Beaver County Chapter of the American Red Cross. It is a service organization concerned with aiding the needy of the community. The club has functioned successfully although their activities were curtailed by a change of sponsors. Mrs. Moreth has assisted the girls in their aim to become "Candy Strippers."

Under the careful direction of Mrs. Cambier, Western's chapter of the Future Homemakers of America has been very successful. The main purpose of the club is to acquaint its members with careers available in home economics and to aid them in improving personal, family, and community living. Their projects included having bake sales, making favors for patients in Rochester Hospital, and serving at the All Sports Banquet.

Library Club

It is not necessary to memorize all the facts required by a subject, but it is necessary to know in what sources this information can be found. Members of the Library Club aid the school in this respect, for they assist Mrs. Safford in management and organization of the library. Classifying books and maintaining an information bulletin board are two more of their services which make the library a convenient place to study and to do research.

Current Discussion Group

One of Western's newest academic organizations is the Current Discussion Group. It attempts to increase students' interest in current events and to provide a means of exchanging ideas about international politics. Members strive to develop an inquisitive approach to world problems. Mr. Alpern is the sponsor of this group which has proved to be a satisfying outlet for its members.

The advisor, Mrs. Walsh, directed analysis of books which the students chose. Next year, the club's facilities will expand to include the works of Thackeray, Bunyan, Vergil, Bacon and other great authors.

Youth for Christ

Youth for Christ is an international organization designed to develop the spiritual lives of its members. It is one of Western's new clubs this year. We laud them for their Christian profession and are sure it will be a guiding factor for their lives.

Junior High Dramatics Club

The Junior High Dramatics Club was organized to present early instruction to those of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades who are interested in dramatics and in the activities connected with it, such as play-reading, staging, speech improvement, and acquiring ease in public speaking. Mr. Bonner stresses the importance of an interest in reading and a desire to learn to express one self orally. Above all, membership in the club helps the pupil to determine his talent for dramatics and eventual participation in senior high plays.

Under the guidance of Mr. Rowe, members are encouraged to work on projects of their choice outside the regular school program. The extent of their learning was exhibited in the shelves they provided for teachers and many articles displayed at the Arts Festival.

Hobby Club

The Hobby Club under the sponsorship of Mr. Marchion consists of junior high students. The purpose of the club was to encourage and help young people develop constructive interests for leisure time. They began their year by planning a series of individual talks on each of their personal hobbies. The club engaged in model ship-building and exhibited various hobbies during the year. Despite the fact that they only met once a week, they spent many enjoyable hours together, discussing the value of pursuing worthwhile avocations.

JUDSON AND TOM share their hard earned cross country awards

Although highly inexperienced, the Golden Beavers under Coach John Hineman, compiled a very impressive record during their first year of Class B competition. Western's lower scores illustrate their 4-3 record. Excelling in team spirit and sportsmanship, Western placed third at the Aliquippa meet where J. Herter and T. Patton placed fifth and eighth respectively. Juddy Herter, a trophy winner, again placed fifth at the Midwestern meet at New Castle. For their excellent efforts, Jud and Tom competed in the state finals at Penn State. A well deserved congratulations goes to Coach Hineman and his boys.

MANAGERS George Lewis and Bob Hertel set up the hurdles

The newest addition to the sports curriculum was track. This year's team used its time to gain experience for the ensuing years. They improved rapidly as the season progressed and were commended by rival coaches for their excellent advancement. They were hampered by lack of equipment and time as well as experience but did a commendable job in the face of such adversities.

Two members of the team qualified for the WPIAL finals at Penn Hills and placed very well. They were Ken Stephens running high hurdles and Jud Herter running the mile and half mile races. Both recorded their fastest times with Jud picking up a fourth place in the mile.

Much credit for the advancement of the team goes to Mr. Allison for his fine coaching and encouragement. Next year we look for a much improved record because of his efforts this year.

What a Section!

With four returning lettermen the basketball team began its first season of competition in Section 8. Although this division is one of the roughest in the state, our team did remarkably well. The scores are very misleading however, because many of our boys were forced to sit on the bench as a result of injuries. Despite this, the season was marked by many close, exciting games; the most memorable was our double overtime win against Beaver. Even though our hoopsters compiled a final record of 7 wins and 14 losses, many experienced teams in the league were made aware of our boys' fine ability and our school's unparalleled spirit, winning or losing. These qualities were a subject of much conversation around the circuit and we left those trademarks wherever we traveled.

The rewards we received from this season can't be measured in wins and losses but in experience gained, ability unchained, and memories claimed. Our material award for the season came in the form of the sportsmanship trophy which we won for the second consecutive year. Much of the credit for this trophy goes to Mr. Hromanik for his outstanding coaching and to our boys who played clean, hard basketball. We look forward to next season with great hopes in an even more competitive league.

Competition in Section 8 proved to be stiffer than expected, but the boys gained more experience this year because of it. They beat Rochester, Beaver, and Hope-well, however, and picked up their other wins in exhibition games against Kiski, St. Veronica, Mars, and Center. The season started well with two exhibition wins then came section play and their winning streak hit a stone wall until Rochester and St. Veronica. Starting with their win over Beaver, the J.V.'s played their best ball of the season until after the overtime loss against Rochester. The remainder of the season was disastrous as they played the titans of the league.

After the smoke had cleared their final record was 8 wins and 13 losses. This record is deceiving because many of the losses were decided in the last quarter. Since the majority of this year's J.V.'s will compose next year's varsity, Mr. Shingler will have almost an entirely different group to work with next year.

MRS. CONWAY—she is always cheerful with everyone

The reserve cheerleading squad worked hard this year cheering for all the J.V. basketball games. Being always there and encouraging others, win or lose, took tremendous energy and loyalty. Diligent practice and good coaching have improved the girls' skills so that they will make fine varsity members next year.

PEP ASSEMBLIES were a welcome diversion, boosted school spirit

We Want Some Action!

OUR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS display originality at all games

On Tuesday and Friday nights, the gymnasium fills with spectators and the contest begins. It is a quick game in which a fast break on a hasty shot can mean the difference between victory and defeat. Emotions run equally as quick. Anticipation, disappointment, anger and disgust can be seen on the same face in a matter of seconds. The game ends and the spectators exit, discussing the basket that won the game, or the one that could have won.

Morale Boosters

The aim of each cheerleader is to promote school spirit. Our seven peppy cheerleaders, sparkling with vim, vigor, and vitality, have accomplished this. Spurred on by a fighting team, the girls were inspired to work even harder to provide the student body with a variety of cheers. They planned pep rallies, led the student body in cheers, and urged our team to victory at every basketball game. Every game was charged by their presence. To have done all this required much time and practice as well as leadership and ingenuity. Mrs. Gonano has been instrumental in guiding this group, the "core of school spirit," to a successful year.

As a student enters junior high school, his school spirit is kindled and nurtured by the exuberance of the junior high cheerleaders. The youngest of the three squads this group has done much to prove its importance to the school. Basketball season stirred them to new action as they soon learned how to keep the crowd cheering at the right times. Cheering for all home junior high basketball games, and special pep rallies for the junior high school did much to arouse school spirit. Each cheerleader of the junior high squad hopes to compete for the J.V. squad as she enters senior high.

Junior High Basketball

Led by freshmen, Clarence Andrews with 229 points and Pat Lacey with 204 points, the junior high basketball team engineered a winning season of 9 victories against 6 defeats. The season started rather slow after a decisive victory over Riverside but soon the boys became a team and mowed the rest of the opponents down except for a few perennial giants. Our victims included Hopewell, Center, Baden-Economy, Northwestern, New Brighton, and Southside. Beaver barely escaped, winning by only one point in the closest game of the season.

Although Mr. Allison is losing quite a few good players to the senior high, he has a big aggregation coming back next year to begin a new combination. Much luck to our junior hoopsters on bettering their magnificent season next year.

Baseball

"Rain, rain go away" was the cry of the baseball team this year. If a practice wasn't cancelled, a game was. Soon the games piled up so that they were playing almost every day of the week. Despite the rain however they trounced Midland 10 to 1 and South Side 20 to 3 after being badly beaten the game before. The remainder of the season was a series of heart breaks and misfortune; hits in the right place were hard to get and they fell one run shy in four games.

Individually the boys showed great promise, but Mr Shingler was at wit's end to find the winning combination. The game which most exemplifies his anxiety was the battle at Kiski which we finally won 11 to 10. Another year, another season and we'll be in there with a ball team that will slam that agate around better than before.

Lettermen

With six lettermen this year the baseball team was well represented at awards day. The disheartening fact is that only two of these, Dick Dobronz and Paul Prodonovich, will return next year to bolster the team. The loss of Tom Berovich will be felt both in the pitching department and at third base. John Camaroni's superb hitting and fielding in the infield will be sorely missed. Trying to find as good a catcher as Terry Dawson will be a difficult task and Tom Troup's left-handed swing will need a good replacement.

OUR NORMAL PRACTICE was held at the Fairview Garage but after rainstorms we had to clean out the ~~garage~~ of the school for practice.

Golf and Tennis Teams Improve Greatly

Finishing the year with a record of 6 wins and 4 losses the golf team became the second team of the year to compile a winning record. They finished third in Section 9 only one behind second place. Besides the commendable team record there were many outstanding individual performances. Most noteworthy was Pat Marron's low score of 72 and his second place in the MAC match at Blackhawk Golf Course. Pat was beaten on the last two holes by a boy from New Castle. Other standouts were senior, Gary Brandt, and high scorer, Dave Joyce

Competition was keen this year with two freshmen Jim Brucker and Mark Ralph winning positions on the first team. Next year these boys will form a strong nucleus with Dave Joyce, Cedric McClinton and Allan Mac-

Leod also returning. Mr. Temple's linksmen have a good chance to compile an enviable record

Continually hampered by bad weather, the tennis team had many matches cancelled and were hard pressed to complete all their contests. They weren't discouraged by this however, and gained valuable ability and knowledge of the game by playing under all conditions

This energetic group organized themselves and practiced diligently without a coach for many weeks. When Mr. Cupani took the reins, the team jelled and won over Riverside and Bellevue. On the other hand their league opposition proved to be too much, but the boys profited tremendously by having such stiff competition. The future looks bright, for there are no graduating members and six will be returning as lettermen

Intramurals

Intramurals serve a two-fold purpose. Primarily they give boys who are not on any interscholastic team the opportunity to participate in a team sport. Secondly they enable the players to develop teamwork and to acquire new membership.

Six teams chose names and met for competition one night a week. They were the Chargers, the Globe-Trotters, the Kingsmen, the Spartans, the Gunners, and the Dukes. The Gunners proved to be the champions. Mr. Hineman sponsored the program and could often be seen joining in the fun. Members of the Gunners not pictured are Ron Brown, Ron Madish, and Nick Arlov.

Gym Exhibition

This year Western held its first gym exhibition. Its purpose was to illustrate to the public what students have learned and accomplished in their gym classes. Much hard work and many long practice sessions resulted in an eventful evening. The exhibition was sponsored by our two capable gym instructors, Mrs. Gonano and Mr. Allison.

PRACTICE combined with talent made this routine perfect.

A C H I E V E M E N T

THE FACULTY cheerleaders were at their ravishing best. The sign is especially appropriate for them.

Senior-Faculty Game

One of the surprises of the year, this game almost turned to the favor of the seniors. Even though they had only one practice session, the boys frightened the faculty with a final score of 39-32. Maybe if some changes are made, the faculty will meet their match next year.

THE ACTION was thick and fast until the unconditioned participants began to drag.

GET HIM! Well... Oh what a frustrating game.

Legion Award

The American Legion School Awards were presented to eighth graders Melanie Engle and Ronald Carroll. Given for qualities of courage, leadership, honor, service, and scholarship, this prize is a fine incentive for junior high school students to seek.

Arts' Festival Queen and her Court

WESTERN'S FIRST QUEEN, Kitty Yule, was crowned on Tuesday, May 12th. The other senior girls who were crowned at the same time are front, Trudy Madish and Elaine Reid, center, Kathie Reynolds and Nancy Ryan, at back, Betty W. and Betty W. at back.

Jr.-Sr. Prom . . . A Huge Success

LET US NOT FORGET that wonderful night

HELPFUL PARENTS sponsor the post-prom activities

April 24th—the night was warm and full of moonlight perfect for a prom, especially a “Twilight Sonata.” To match the theme, the decorations consisted of colored parachutes that hung from the ceiling, a fountain that sprayed multi-colored water, a half moon made of yellow Puffs,” and an entrance enclosed by an arbor decorated with flowers in all shades of blue. Couples danced to the music of the Beaver Bobcat Swing Band.

Later at the post-prom party, held in the spacious ballroom of the Willows Motel, starry-eyed couples dined and danced away the social highlights of the year. Good food was served buffet style. A singing group from Geneva College and a magician entertained. The Jacks, a local dance band, provided the music.

School Picnic

SCHOOL PICNIC day was one in which everyone left his work and care behind and came out for an afternoon of enjoyment. The chilly air did not cool the enthusiasm of the students, parents, or teachers who attended, and a good time was had by all

IDORA PARK had one of the largest picnics ever

Senior Banquet

Everyone who attended the Senior Banquet agreed that it was one of the finest dinners of the year. Excellent food was served, the Orlins played for dancing, the pool table was hot, and Andy stepped in the kiddies pool. The Willows will never be the same!

MANY OF US saw him and the Willows Men for the first time this year.

Commencement 1964

June 2, 1964, was a memorable day. All our fondest wishes seemed to be within our grasp as the first great milestone in our lives passed. The speaker, Dr. John S. Stahl, impressed us with direct and practical advice for a happy future. With sorrow yet respite, the Class of 1964 sang the First Morning and our High School days were over.

KENNETH STEPHENS started off the general theme What Matters Most? with his speech on "Endowment."

JUDSON HERTER carried on the day by speaking on "Opportunity."

THOMAS BOMAR concluded the theme with his talk on "Responsibility."

SUDDENLY it seemed as if it was Mr. H. who presented the diplomas with a warm handshake and smile.

The 101st Blow

When nothing seems to help, I go and look at a stonecutter hammering away at his rock, perhaps a hundred times without as much as a crack showing in it. Yet, at the 101st blow it will split in two, and I know it was not that blow that did it, but all that had gone before.

LEXICON OF LEARNING

Noah Webster, the "Dictionary Man," was born October 16, 1785. Although he lived 85 years, he died without witnessing the modern meanings of some of his words. For example

Education means learning a lot—about how little you know.

Thinking is a practice resorted to when hungry, broke or in jail

Clarification denotes filing in the background till the foreground goes underground

Homework is skull drudgery

A Highbrow is a chap educated beyond his intelligence

A Genius—he's the "crackpot" who made a "screwball's" idea work

A Hobo is a road's scholar

A Psychiatrist is the jasper who doesn't worry so long as other people do.
